Eden

Showing the style that has led to many accolades

In addition to her role as a scaler at the AMS Eden log yard, Cathy Munday enjoys a reputation as a champion axe person. Starting at 12 years of age and competing with boys in local wood chopping competitions, Cathy had to wait until ant-discrimination laws were introduced before she could compete with men in registered events. Cathy was the first woman to compete in axe events at Canberra and Sydney Royal shows, and the first woman to win in a men's sawing race at the Sydney, Canberra and Melbourne Royal shows. She began sawing with her father Bob and now saws with World Champion David Foster of Tasmania. Cathy has become the ambassador for women's wood chopping, and was recently appointed captain of the Australian women's team, which has ten members.

She is a proud supporter of her sport which she represents via the media and at speaking engagements with local community groups. In her spare time, Cathy captains the rural fire service of the township of Kiah 15 kms south of Eden where she lives on her parents farm, tending cattle and growing lucerne hay: a busy life, well done Cathy.

Melville Island

February saw the first bulk carrier berth at Port Melville, the MV Tinos, chartered from Austbulk Shipping Sdn Bhd, which was loaded with Red Tiwi round logs destined for the Chinese port of Yangpu. Mike Robinson and Des Jeffree, of Pentarch Forest Products, supervised the loading of the vessel by Pensyl supplied crews.

Melbourne

Simon Yuncken

Our very own, Group CFO Simon Yuncken did his bit for the Commonwealth Games by participating in the Queen's baton relay. Not only did he complete the standard 400 metres, Simon also had to run an additional 400 for a 'mystery' runner who failed to show. All in a days work at Pentarch.

Portland

Rob Scarlet from HO has been out and about spreading the People Soft word, seen left with Portland's office Administration Manager, Michelle Kenny.

Live data entry began in the Australian forestry division in mid 2005, and in the agricultural division from December 2005.

The next phase of the roll out will include incorporating NZ forestry companies into the system as well as group expense management.
